Elected by Regents

1900	JAMES RUSSELL PARSONS JR M.A.
	LL.D.....	Secretary

UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

The University is a supervisory and administrative, not a teaching institution. It is a State department and at the same time a federation of more than 1860 institutions of higher and secondary education. Its field includes not only the work of academies, colleges, universities, professional and technical schools, but also educational work connected with libraries, museums, study clubs, extension courses and similar agencies, and its object as defined by law is to encourage and promote education in advance of the common elementary branches.

Regents. The University is governed and all its corporate powers exercised by 19 elective Regents and by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction who are ex officio Regents. Regents are elected in the same manner as United States senators; they are unsalaried and are the only public officers in New York chosen for life.

The elective officers are a Chancellor and a Vice Chancellor, who serve without salary, and a secretary. The secretary is the executive and financial officer, is under official bonds for $10,000, is responsible for the safe-keeping and proper use of the University seal and of the books, records and other property in charge of the Regents, and for the proper administration and discipline of its various offices and departments.

Regents meetings. The annual meeting is held the first Thursday in December, and other meetings are held as business requires. An executive committee of nine Regents is elected at the annual meeting to act for the board in the intervals between its meetings, except that it can not grant, alter, suspend or revoke charters or confer honorary degrees.

Powers and duties. Among many other important powers and duties prescribed by the laws, ordinances and bylaws, the Regents have power to incorporate and to alter or revoke the charters of universities, colleges, academies, libraries, museums, or other educational institutions; to distribute to them funds granted by the State for their use; to inspect their workings and require annual reports under oath of their presiding officers; to establish examinations as to attainments in learning and confer on successful candidates suitable certificates, diplomas and degrees, and to confer honorary degrees.

They apportion annually an academic fund of $350,000, part for buying books and apparatus for academies and high schools raising an equal amount for the same purpose, $100 to each nonsectarian secondary school in good standing and the remainder on the basis of attendance. The Regents also granted in 1902 over $22,700 for the benefit of free public libraries.

Departments. The work of the Regents is organized by departments as follows:

1 Administrative, including charters, finances, legislation, printing and publications and all other work not assigned to any other department.

2 College, including universities, professional, technical and other special schools and all matters pertaining to degrees or licenses.

3 High School, including academies placed under the Regents in 1784, academic departments of union schools under their supervision by the original union free school act of 1853, with other interests of secondary education.

6 University of the State of New York

4 Home Education, including all work done under the name of the Extension Department, and the New York State Library School.

5 State Library.

6 State Museum, including all scientific interests.

These departments are under exclusive control of the Regents, who have "all powers of trustees thereof, including authority to appoint all needed officers and employees; to fix their titles, duties, salaries and terms of service." The entire work of each department is given in detail in separate reports, and the annual publications of each are enumerated on the last cover pages of bulletins.

Convocation. The Regents and all officers of any University department; all trustees, instructors and other officers of institutions in the University; officers of the Department of Public Instruction, of the normal schools, of the state associations of teachers, superintendents, school commissioners and school boards, and others elected by the Regents or by convocation council are members of Convocation, which meets annually at the capitol in Albany. By addresses, papers, discussions and resolutions it ascertains and formulates educational opinion, and advances higher educational interests. Convocation convenes Monday, June 29, and continues through Tuesday, June 30, 1903.

For the organization of the Administrative Department consult the secretary's report. For the organization of the College, High School, and Home Education Departments, the State Library, and the State Museum consult the directors' reports.

SPECIAL REGISTERED SCHOOLS

Schools of the State that for special reasons can not become members of the University may secure the benefits of registration by the payment of an annual fee of $20 for inspection. Such schools must have a satisfactory equipment and approved courses of study in order to secure recognition for their certificates in lieu of examinations for equivalent credentials. The academic years for which schools in this class are registered follow the name of the school.
